

Canada

2006 – 2009

- The Canadian Government, through the Canadian International Cooperation Agency (CIDA), is financing the Primary Health Care Policy Project in the Balkans in the Republic of Serbia and Bosnia and Herzegovina. The project is being implemented by a consortium of the Canadian Society for International Health (CSIH) and the Queens University (QU) with the support of the team with experience and knowledge in primary health care and human resources. The governments of the two countries are the main partners in the Project. In Serbia, the key partner is the Ministry of Health. Beneficiaries of the Project are public authorities at all levels, local governments in charge of primary health care institutions, healthcare professionals and beneficiaries of health care.

2005
